One of the world's most comprehensive butterfly and insect farms with well over 200 local species including rare ones namely Raja Brooke and Birdwing. There is also a collection of more than 400 insect specimens.

4 Mini Asean

A unique theme park conceived as the summary of prominent cultural elements of the countries that make up ASEAN i.e. Malaysia, Thailand, Philippines, Singapore, Indonesia and Brunei. Visitors will acquire a definitive sense of history and culture of the countries based on the features of the houses constructed with remarkable detail.

19 Malacca Traditional House

Architecturally resplendent and signature to Malacca's 19th Century artistic style. Built by a Chieftain, intricate wood carving forms the unique facade as well as the interior section of the house. Located 5km Southwest of Merlimau Town.

20 Jasin's Museum

Established to uncover the facts, and the myths, behind the establishment of Jasin as one of the significant settlements of Malacca's territorial expansion. Exhibits range from historical and cultural artifacts. An account of Sultan Mahmud Shah's infatuation for Puteri Gunung Ledang (Princess of Gunung Ledang) is also included as the permanent exhibits at the museum. The subject should be awe-inspiring to romance novelists and lovers alike.

21 Alor Gajah's Museum

Exhibits will help visitors to journey into the past and to visualise the amazing stories behind the district of Alor Gajah. The district was the site where Naning war was waged. There are also exhibits on the cultures of the Malay, Chinese and Indian.

Hours: 9:00am - 6:00pm

2 Auyin Hill Resort

Constructed based on the philosophy of 'Feng Shui' (geomancy), the resort is one of a kind in the country. Every element has been placed relative to the principle of celestial and terrestrial positioning accuracy to enhance its charm, 'chi'(power) and prosperity.

5 Recreational Forest

A serene setting of tropical forest awaits discovery. Untouched to enable visitors to truly experience a leisurely walk through a tropical haven. The trees are labelled making it fun and educational for a quick lesson in Malaysia's rich flora and fauna. It is an ideal setting for jungle trekking, hiking, jogging and cycling. The routes are marked.

Hours: 7:00am – 6:00pm.

3 Mini Malaysia

A stupendous theme complex to enable visitors to view the traditional houses of the 13 states of Malaysia on a single visit. The complex displays life-size authentic houses of Malaysia crafted by master builders. Each house has been furnished with corresponding elements adding ambience of originality that capture the houses in their traditional setting.

6 Crocodile Farm

The farm is the largest in the country. More than 100 species of crocodiles are reared here including Albinos and hunchbacked. Landscaped to create a natural environment conducive for the reptiles.

7 Malacca Fish World

The complex is an interesting place to take a glimpse at the underwater world in its natural setting. More than 50 species of fresh and saltwater fish are on display in an aquarium in the shape of a whale. The complex has been landscaped with cascades, caves, open ponds and ships.

8 Malacca Zoo

More than 44 species of animals found in Southeast Asia and Africa amidst natural setting. Rated the best zoo in this part of the country, it is an enticing place to discover the animal kingdom at your own pace.

Hours:

9 Ayer Keroh Lake

Ideal for exciting water sports activities such as boating and canoeing. Equipped with amenities and facilities to enable a family to enjoy relaxing moments amidst scenic environment.

10 Dol Said's Grave

The ninth ruler of Naning who defiantly opposed the imposition of tax on the district by the British. He valiantly resisted British forces on Naning, deploying his troop with outstanding display of military ingenuity that outsmarted the invading forces on two campaigns. The Naning War, waged in 1834, made Dol Said a hero of exceptional valor that earned him a permanent place in the history of Malacca.

11 Gadek Hot Spring

Popular as the spa among visitors from far and wide seeking therapeutic cure for skin diseases. Handicraft shops and playgrounds have been made available to provide additional attractions for visitors. An ideal spot for family outing.

12 British Graveyard

British soldiers died in Naning War fighting Dol Said and his men, were buried at the graveyard as a mark of respect for their gallantry.

13 Cape Rachado

Birdwatchers' paradise. An important lowland marking to migrating birds set in a serene headland forest punctuated by a blue lagoon and a beautiful beach.

14 Dutch Fort

Used as an outpost to enforce the monopoly of tax collection. It was manned by a small garrison of Dutch officers but was later abandoned when the mining in Naning area ceased its operation.

15 Hang Tuah's Mausoleum

A fully decorated admiral of Malacca's naval forces who defended successfully, countless attacks against Malacca sovereignty from Siamese and Achenese fleets, Hang Tuah's outstanding performance as a military officer made him a legend that has graced many a court and the history of Malacca.

Hang Tuah's bravery was discovered during his adolescence when he single handedly arrested a man who had ran amuck in the village called Kampong Duyong. His valiant act caught the sultan's attention and he was called to the palace and conferred a knighthood, the youngest ever to be knighted.

16 Hang Tuah's Well

Located in Kampong Duyong where Hang Tuah was born and spent his childhood among four of his good friends who would later become the famous knights of Malacca.

The well is said to be the abode of his soul which takes the apparition of a white crocodile. For a commoner to catch a glimpse of Hang Tuah is hardly likely. It is said that only the holy among us can ever hope to see the apparition.

17 Pulau Besar

A haven for holiday makers seeking exclusive right to sandy beaches, clear blue waters, the sun and sea-front chalets on stilts. The island is an excellent resort for swimming, fishing, picnicking and snorkeling.

18 Tun Teja's Mausoleum

The daughter of Sri Amar Di Raja Pahang was convinced by Hang Tuah to marry Sultan Mahmud Shah. She died a queen in Merlimau, about 24 km from Malacca Town, while retreating with members of the Malacca royal family from the Portuguese attack in 1511.

2 Malacca's Sultanate Palace

Built based on the description and reference to the palace in 'Sejarah Melayu' (the Malay Annals), the wooden replica houses the Cultural Museum of Malacca. Situated at the foot of St. Paul's Hill, it is the only Malay palace from Malacca's glorious past built with such detail and refinement.

Places of Interest

1 The Stadthuys

Built in 1650 as the official residence of Dutch Governors and their officers, the edifice is a fine example of Dutch architecture. Preserved in its original structure and form, it now houses the Historic Museum and Ethnography Museum. On display daily are fine traditional bridal costumes and relics from Malacca's glorious past.

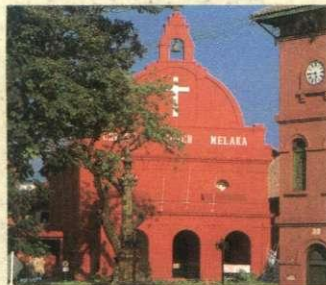

6 A Famosa

The hallmark of Malacca and perhaps the most photographed subject next to the Stadthuys. Built by the Portuguese in 1511 as a fortress, it sustained severe structural damage during the Dutch Invasion. The Dutch had set to destroy it but timely intervention by Sir Stamford Raffles in 1808 saved what remains of A Famosa today.

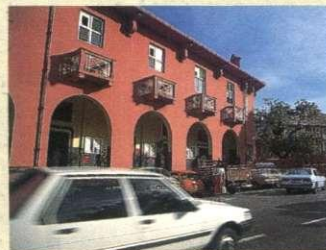

7 Dutch Graveyard

A war memorial dedicated to fine British officers and soldiers who died in the Naning War (1831-32)

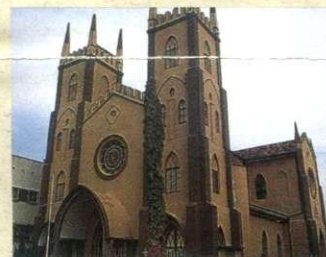

2 Christ Church

Standing exactly as it has always been since 1753, the church is testimony to Dutch architectural ingenuity. Take note of the church's handmade pews, ceiling beams constructed without joints, Brass Bible, tombstone written in Armenian and 'Last Supper' in glazed tiles.

3 Malaysia Youth Museum

The museum is dedicated to the contribution made by youths in the country's economic and social well-being of the country. The noble efforts evident at regional, national and international levels are displayed at the museum.

4 St. Francis Xavier's Church

Built in 1849 by Reverend Farve, a Frenchman, the Gothic-towered church is dedicated to St. Francis Xavier. Known as the 'Apostle of the East', St. Francis Xavier is well-remembered for his missionary work spreading Catholicism to South-East Asia in the 16th Century.

10 Hang Jebat's Mausoleum

The champion of justice who died a

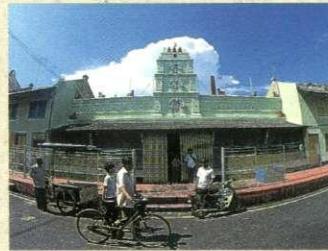

9 Proclamation of Independence Memorial

Built in 1912, the former club house of Malacca Club now houses invaluable exhibits of the country's struggle leading to the Independence. Exhibits are in the form of relics, manuscripts, video tapes, films and slides.

8 Muzium Rakyat (The People's Museum)

Exhibits include special interest issues relating to Malaysia's economic and social progress spanning from the period Malacca was known as 'Sleepy Hollow' right up to the phrase more apt to its dynamic outlook, 'The Vibrant Malacca.' The exhibits are segmented into tourism, agriculture, industry and other sectors.

11 Sri Poyyatha Vinayagar Moorthi Temple

One of the first Hindu temples built in the country at the turn of the century. It was built on the plot given by the Dutch.

12 Kampong Kling's Mosque

One of the oldest mosques in the country with Sumatran architectural features. Instead of a conventional dome, a three-tier roof rising like a pyramid is in place. A minaret peculiar in shape from a typical moorish style, is structured like a Pagoda, portraying a mixture of East-West architectural influence.

13 The Baba and Nyonya Heritage

'Straits Chinese' or the Baba and Nyonya, are Chinese of noble descendants who have adopted much of the Malay culture into theirs. The public can now view the heirloom unique to this heritage at a private museum run by the Babas and Nyonyas of Malacca.

14 Jonker Street

A definite haven for antique collectors and bargain hunters. Authentic artifacts and relics, some dating as far back as 300 years, can be found among a host of interesting collectibles, each with its own history, and mystery. Jalan Hang Jebat, formerly known as Jonker Street, is known worldwide among famous antique collectors as one of the best places to hunt and bargain for antiques.

17 Kampong Hulu's Mosque

Built in 1728 by Dato Shamsudin, it is the oldest mosque in Malaysia. Its unique architectural style is not traceable to others in the country.

18 Villa Sentosa

The house, built during the first quarter of the century in the style fashionable during the era, has been converted by its owner, Tuan Hj. Hashim bin Dato Demang Hj. Abdul Ghani, into a private museum. Located in Kampong Morten, which is the only Malay village in the heart of Malacca city, the house has a history that goes back to the British Land Reform Act 1920. Visitors can view intriguing collection of costumes, Malay embroidery, furniture, muskets and an array of interesting relics. As for curator, the owner would be glad to play the role from whom visitors can ask additional information.

19 St. Peter's Church

The only church in Malaysia with a life-size alabaster statue of The Dead Lord Before The Resurrection. Built by the Portuguese in 1710 with its architectural style blending to that of Oriental and Occidental.

20 Sam Po Kong Temple

Dedicated to Admiral Cheng Ho, the temple was named after a fish that miraculously saved the admiral's ship from sinking after it had been hit by a storm enroute to Malacca from China. The fish mysteriously placed itself against a damaged hull preventing the ship from taking on water.

Accommodation

23 St. John's Fort

Rebuilt by the Dutch during the third quarter of the 18th Century, the fort was once a private Portuguese chapel dedicated to St. John the Baptist. The fort has an interesting feature in that its gun embrasures face inland as during that time, attacks on Malacca came mainly from the hinterland instead of from the sea.

24 Portuguese Square

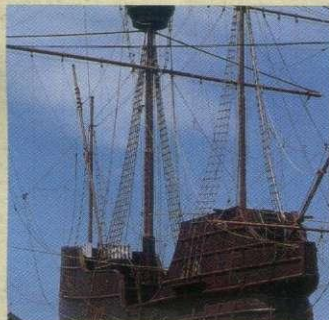

Perhaps the right phrase to infer strong affinity to Portugal would be 'Mini Lisbon.' Located within the Portuguese Settlement, the square is the culmination of Portuguese culture in its full splendour and colours.

25 Tranquerah Mosque

Prominent in its architectural grandeur, the mosque is unique and bears testimony to the fact that Islam had its rightful place in Malacca almost 600 years ago.

The tomb of Sultan Hussain of Johore is in the compound of the mosque. He was the ruler who signed the cession of Singapore with Sir Stamford Raffles in 1819.

26 Maritime Museum

The Museum is constructed after 'Flor De La Mar', the Portuguese ship that sank off the coast of Malacca on its way to Portugal. With its hull laden with invaluable treasures seized from Malacca, the ship was doomed from existence had it not for the efforts to revive its symbolic significance to Malacca's heritage.

3 Malaysia Youth Museum

The museum is dedicated to the contribution made by youths in the country's economic and social well-being of the country. The noble efforts evident at regional, national and international levels are displayed at the museum.

4 St. Francis Xavier's Church

Built in 1849 by Reverend Farve, a Frenchman, the Gothic-towered church is dedicated to St. Francis Xavier. Known as the 'Apostle of the East', St. Francis Xavier is well-remembered for his missionary work spreading Catholicism to South-East Asia in the 16th Century.

5 St. Paul's Church

Built by a Portuguese Captain by the name of Duarte Coelho, the chapel was turned by the Dutch into a burial ground for their noble dead and renamed it 'St. Paul's Church' from the the Portuguese's 'Our Lady Of The Hill.'

St. Francis Xavier was briefly enshrined in the open grave in 1553 before being shipped to Goa, India.

8 Muzium Rakyat (The People's Museum)

Exhibits include special interest issues relating to Malaysia's economic and social progress spanning from the period Malacca was known as 'Sleepy Hollow' right up to the phrase more apt to its dynamic outlook, 'The Vibrant Malacca.' The exhibits are segmented into tourism, agriculture, industry and other sectors.

9 Proclamation of Independence Memorial

Built in 1912, the former club house of Malacca Club now houses invaluable exhibits of the country's struggle leading to the Independence. Exhibits are in the form of relics, manuscripts, video tapes, films and slides.

10 Hang Jebat's Mausoleum

The champion of justice who died a tragic death. Hang Jebat was unceremoniously killed by Hang Tuah in a duel of honour that lasted 3 days and 3 nights. He ran amuck after suffering a fatal wound from Hang Tuah's dagger, 'keris Taming Sari', in the name of justice to avenge the sultan's hasty punishment against Hang Tuah for a crime he didn't commit. Hang Jebat was accused by Hang Tuah of 'durhaka' (contumacy).

The duel between two of Malacca's most prominent knights has left a permanent question as to the moral behind Hang Jebat's aberrant reaction against the authority and, the conventions by which Hang Tuah exercised his conduct as a loyal subject of the sultan.

dome, a three-tier roof rising like a pyramid is in place. A minaret peculiar in shape from a typical moorish style, is structured like a Pagoda, portraying a mixture of East-West architectural influence.

13 The Baba and Nyonya Heritage

'Straits Chinese' or the Baba and Nyonya, are Chinese of noble descendants who have adopted much of the Malay culture into theirs. The public can now view the heirloom unique to this heritage at a private museum run by the Babas and Nyonyas of Malacca.

14 Jonker Street

A definite haven for antique collectors and bargain hunters. Authentic artifacts and relics, some dating as far back as 300 years, can be found among a host of interesting collectibles, each with its own history, and mystery. Jalan Hang Jebat, formerly known as Jonker Street, is known worldwide among famous antique collectors as one of the best places to hunt and bargain for antiques.

15 Cheng Hoon Teng's Temple

The oldest Chinese temple in the country. It was built in 1646 with materials shipped out of China. Fine workmanship is evident in the ornately decorated mythological figures, carvings, and lacquer work inside the temple.

16 Hang Kasturi's Mausoleum

Hang Kasturi studied 'silat' (Malay martial art) under the same tutelage as Hang Tuah, Hang Jebat, Hang Lekir and Hang Lekiu. He became one of the 'hulubalangs' (knights) who served Malacca together with Hang Tuah. Except for Hang Jebat, Hang Kasturi and the others remained loyal to the sultan to their dying day.

its owner, Tuan Hj. Hashim bin Dato Demang Hj. Abdul Ghani, into a private museum. Located in Kampong Morten, which is the only Malay village in the heart of Malacca city, the house has a history that goes back to the British Land Reform Act 1920. Visitors can view intriguing collection of costumes, Malay embroidery, furniture, muskets and an array of interesting relics. As for curator, the owner would be glad to play the role from whom visitors can ask additional information.

Dedicated to Admiral Cheng Ho, the temple was named after a fish that miraculously saved the admiral's ship from sinking after it had been hit by a storm enroute to Malacca from China. The fish mysteriously placed itself against a damaged hull preventing the ship from taking on water.

21 Hang Li Poh's Well

Built in 1459 by the followers of Hang Li Poh, the Chinese princess who married the Sultan of Malacca, the well never dried up during days of old and was the only source of water supply during great droughts. The Dutch enclosed it with stout walls in 1677 to maintain its ultimate right to the well. It has been turned into a wishing well and it is said that those who throw coins into it will return to Malacca time and again.

22 Bukit China

As the name implies, 'Chinese Hill' was the official settlement of the Chinese entourage that arrived with Princess Hang Li Poh. She was sent to Malacca by the Emperor to marry the sultan to mark the advent of diplomatic relationship between Malacca and China. The entourage stayed on this settlement until Portuguese occupation in 1511. Today Bukit China is the largest Chinese cemetery outside China with many of the tombs dating back to Ming Dynasty.

BULLOCK CART RIDE

Once the means of transportation for the rich of Malacca. The features that separate the bullock cart of Malacca to that of others are the pointed roof in the shape of the horn of a bull, trappings and colours. A ride around Padang Pahlawan is at a minimal fee of RM1.00/person.

TRISHAW RIDE

The best way to enjoy Malacca in a slow and laid-back manner. The trishaw will take you through streets and corners of Malacca that you could easily miss out if you decide to venture on your own. The trishaw can be rented on hourly or distance covered basis at The Stadthuys.

MALACCA

WHERE IT ALL BEGAN

Malacca is rich with history. It was founded by an exiled prince from Sumatra, Parameswara, in 1400. It thrived as a port-of-call to many a ship and merchant from China, India, Arab and South America. In 1511 it fell to the hands of the Portuguese followed by the Dutch in 1641 after a fierce battle. In 1795 Malacca was given to the British to prevent it falling to the French when the Netherlands was captured during the French Revolution. It was returned to the Dutch in 1818 under the Treaty of Vienna but was later exchanged by the British for Bencoleen, Sumatra. From 1826 onwards it was ruled by English East India Company in Culcutta together with Singapore and Penang under Straits Settlement administration. After World War II, anti-colonial sentiment bred in the country among the nationalists, the result of which the proclamation of Independence by His Highness Tunku Abdul Rahman Putra Al-Haj, Malaysia's first Prime Minister, at the Padang Pahlawan (Warrior's Field) at Bandar Hilir, Malacca on 20th February 1956.

The history of Malaysia begins from Malacca. The many remnants of the past will take a visitor on a nostalgic journey that goes back to 500 years of glorious and colourful past...

Getting There

Malacca is easily accessible from major points of the country. The most recommended means would be by road in order to enjoy the scenic experience travelling through tropical greens of rubber estates and palm oil plantations.
